Discussions about the singing: What did we think of the style of singing? How was it different from other singing we hear?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>A warbly sound is created by using lots of vibrato which literally translates as vibration.</li> <li>Some of the female voices are very high. These are called sopranos and they tend to sing very high notes to soar above the piano or orchestra and the other singers? What other voice types did you hear? There were 3 sopranos, a mezzo soprano, 2 tenors and a baritone. A mezzo soprano is another female singer who doesn't sing quite as high as a soprano and sounds very warm and rich in the lower part of their voice. The tenors are male singers and have the highest male voices. Like the sopranos they sing bright, high notes and can also be heard above the piano and orchestra and sometimes the other singers! The baritone is one of the lower male voices and has a deep and rich quality.</li> <li>It can be very loud! Opera singers use muscles called diaphragms in their bodies to help make a really loud sound so they don't need to use microphones.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>A warbly sound is created by using lots of vibrato which literally translates as vibration.</li> <li>Some of the female voices are very high. It was a woman, Juliane Gallant</li> <li>Do you know how a piano works? Each key moves a 'hammer' that hits three metal strings. The strings are pulled to a very specific tension which makes a note. The tighter the strings, the higher the notes and the looser the strings the lower the notes.</li> <li>Holding the key down for a long time allows the strings to vibrate, meaning that the sound of the notes will keep playing and then when the note is released the strings stop vibrating and the sound finishes.</li> <li>There are also pedals. Most pianos have two main pedals. One pedal allows the sound to continue for a long time and is called the 'sustain' pedal and the other pedal makes the piano a little quieter and is called a soft pedal as it 'dampens' the sound. Some pianos have a third pedal which can sometimes be a practice pedal and makes it very quiet but this depends on the piano.</li> </ul>

From a long time ago such as Fanny Mendelssohn (Felix Mendelssohn's sister) and Clara Schumann (Robert Schumann's wife - why do we know their bothers and husbands more than them?) or maybe modern female composers such as Meredith Monk or even Sara Bareilles</li> </ul>
